Jeremy Cherfas set up a yearly donation to GiveDirectly in the name of Elon Musk

"Hey There, Big Boy I put my money where my mouth is. Love Jeremy"

GiveDirectly sends money directly to people living in extreme poverty. The money is unconditional, so people can choose for themselves how to invest the funds to best improve their lives. Recipients spend money on education, food, business ventures, home repairs, and more. You can read unedited, unfiltered stories from recipients on GD Live.

Our approach is guided by rigorous evidence of impact and by our core values of efficiency, transparency, and respect. Approximately 85% of each donation goes directly into the hands of someone living in extreme poverty.
